Two organisations are involved in publishing this journal. The copyright holder's policies take priority over the commercial publisher

Commercial Publisher (Publishing House)

Definition: A company that publishes for profit.

Case/E.g.: Springer Verlag

Guidance: Commercial publishers may both publish their own journals and publish journals on behalf of learned societies and other client organisations. They normally control the rights for their own journals, and may control the rights for the journals of client organisations. However, some client organisations retain their rights.

Copyright Holder

Definition: Publisher(s) declared as copyright holder(s)

Case/E.g.: Explicit statements - 'Copyright [year] Name', 'Owned by...'

Guidance: The policies of the copyright holder take priority over the policies of any other organisations involved in the publication of a journal.
