Hurricane Harvey

Funding available for libraries effected by Hurricane Harvey:

Texas State Library and Archives Commission (@TSLAC) and Texas Library Association (@TXLA)

The Texas State Library and Archives Commission (TSLAC) will offer “Rebuilding Texas Libraries” disaster relief grants to public, school, and academic libraries in Texas counties affected by Hurricane Harvey.

Libraries in the counties declared a disaster area will be eligible to receive up to $5,000 per affected location, with a maximum of $25,000 for libraries with multiple affected branches.

National Endowment for the Humanities (@NEHgov)

Cultural institutions in FEMA-designated disaster areas of Texas, Louisiana, Florida, and other impacted states and U.S. territories can apply immediately for NEH Chairman’s Emergency Grants of up to $30,000 to preserve documents, books, photographs, art works, historical objects, sculptures, and structures damaged by the hurricane and subsequent flooding.

NEH will award up to $1 million in emergency grants.

Bepress to benefit from Elsevier’s technology and analytics to expand offerings to more institutions, while helping Elsevier drive further adoption of its research data management tools

New York, August 2, 2017

Elsevier, the global information analytics business specializing in science and health, today acquired bepress, a Berkeley, California-based business that helps academic libraries showcase and share their institutions’ research for maximum impact. Survey on DL Content Reuse

TDL members are invited to participate in a research study conducted by members of a sub-working group of the DLF Assessment Interest Group.

Take a survey that will ask respondents to identify how cultural heritage organizations currently assess digital library reuse. The survey will consist of several questions asking participants to identify barriers for reuse and to prioritize potential solutions and next steps.

Access the survey now through Oct 11, 2017 at http://uhlibrary.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_bKNLEtMwORvQmJD
