● Chronopolis & AWS (Amazon Web Services) both have made progress towards green energy, however not as much progress as one would expect. For example:
  ○ Only one of the four Chronopolis nodes plan to be powered 100% by clean energy by 2025 (the UC San Diego center).
  ○ AWS has nodes around the country, with the largest being in Virginia, and they aren’t equally green. TDL’s data is replicated in the East Coast data centers, and moving to the West Coast would double costs.

● We are continuing to finalize the report and refine our recommendations for how to help improve the environmental impact of TDL’s digital preservation service.
  ○ For now, we suggest beginning to examine other options for digital preservation services.
